

Presentation av Föräldrainformation om IF, intellektuell funktionsnedsättning – engelska

Information for parents about intellectual disability

The group information will be presented as a series of lectures across three half-days where you and other parents will get to know more about the diagnosis and what it means in everyday life. You will also get suggestions for adaptations and how to stimulate your child's communication, independence and motor skills.

The aim of the lectures is to gain an increased understanding of the opportunities and difficulties children face, and to give examples of how those around you can support your child's development.

Since the lecture is divided into 3 separate sessions, it's important that you attend all three half-days.

Please cancel if you can't attend!
